Full Description	Are We the Company For You? Marshland Credit Union ($170M; Brunswick, GA.) is looking for our next President/CEO! This individual will guide the credit union and its team to new growth through strategic innovation in a culture built on trust and integrity. With nearly 16,000 members and strong capital position, we are ready to launch forward for the future. Today, we serve eight counties and growing... In fact, our membership just voted for a conversion to a state charter that adds flexibility to expand further. Our new CEO will be energized about the opportunity this creates to be the trusted financial partner of a growing member base. As you get to know our community—the historic city of Brunswick, the Golden Isles along the southeastern shore of the Atlantic Ocean, the charm of Savannah—you will become passionate about developing financial solutions that meet your neighbors’ needs. Coastal Georgia’s rich history has influenced today’s vibrant community that attracts thousands of tourists for its natural beauty, culture and endless recreational activities. A diverse economic base includes two major international shipping ports, industries, colleges, aerospace manufacturing, and military bases. Our next CEO will be prepared to meet the needs of this entire community, and the multicultural interests represented. Is This the Career For You? Your capacity for being a visionary leader will help you thrive in this role: Having a vision, articulating that vision, and inspiring others to share that vision will motivate a team and a community that wants to be part of this credit union. It will lead to new product development, effective management of new initiatives, and smooth navigation of changing economic and regulatory landscapes. Your honesty and integrity will cause others to trust you, and that trust will lead to strong relationships with members, the community, your Board of Directors, and your credit union team members. A history of strategic execution—through varying economic environments—that ensures members’ financial needs are met while the credit union stays financially viable will help you succeed in this role. Your style balances business acumen and interpersonal relationships, with accomplishments that show how you have achieved significant financial gains while developing exceptional teams. An appreciation of coastal life, southern hospitality, and historic charm will make you love this community. Your passion for serving, leading, innovating, and doing good business will make you love

this career.
